EIGHT PAGES.

Gov. Culberson has come out on top. In his fight on the prize fighters.

A Chicago Journal advocates a head tax of $10 on every American going to Europe to spend precious American gold.

England is not satisfied with the action taken by China in degrading the Viceroy of Szechuen. They believe it is a trick.

The Black Flags of Formosa are a kind of water and land pirates. Not only do they fight by the sword but carry on warfare by poison.

When jockeys are paid $15,000 a year, college presidents and "literary fellows" must realize that they made a mistake in choosing a profession.

The Louisville Courier-Journal has an editorial on "low-tax whiskey." It is safe to say that it will attract the attention of all Kentuckians.

Chicago Tribune thinks the Washington Post's description of New York as "a dried-up town" is a misnomer. Our impression is that New York will never dry up.

Most of the New York walking delegates ride around on bicycles when ordering strikes. The laborers subject to their orders are the ones who do the walking.

There is a suspicion that Corbett and Fitzsimmons felt pretty sure the Legislature and Governor of Texas would stand their friend by enacting laws against prize fighting.

The Charleston News and Courier explains that "the reason that so much personal property escapes taxation is that the rate is so high that it practically amounts to confiscation."

The Atchison Globe gives this wise advice: "Admit occasionally to your friend that he knows more than you do. It gives him a great impression of your discrimination and good sense."

A lot of moonshiners in Kentucky lately made a mistake and rounded up four Chicago drummers. The shiners were glad to have their stills left when the boys got through sampling the mountain dew, remarks the Lowell News.

The San Francisco Examiner remarks that Lieut. Perry is back from the Arctic, bringing information for which there was no particular demand. The knowledge that snow is cold, and that balls made out of it are, to a certain extent, non-nutritious, was common property before.

The Washington Star says Atlanta is happy in being, so far as her present enterprise is concerned, beyond the reach of envious shafts. A "Cotton States Exposition" could not with propriety be held in either New York or Chicago. But why speak of envious shafts? This is no time for such talk.

The New York World says that 7,000 children, hungry for education, are turned away from the schools this year because there is no room for them. Fifty thousand are compelled either to go without schooling or to pay high prices in private schools for the tuition for which their parents pay taxes. It is a shame to the city.

"Acid Lang Syne" is of uncertain origin, there being several versions of this deservedly popular song. One of the best is by Burns, but only the second and third stanzas are by this poet, the remainder being from the pen of Ramsay. The song is of uncertain antiquity; one version is dated 1716 and another is said to date from the sixteenth century.

THE LIBERTY BELL.

The Liberty Bell in its journey to Atlanta, has kindled patriotic ardor and interest through every section of the country through which it has passed, and in many instances has been received with an interest akin to enthusiasm. It left Philadelphia a few days since in state, with ceremony befitting its significance, history and worth, and its presence in "the Queen City of the South" will recall to the assembled thousands at the Exposition that it was its voice which first announced the independence of the struggling colonies, now grown to a rich and powerful country.

NOT THAT KIND OF PATRIOT.

Capt. H. H. Cummings, department commander of the Pennsylvania Grand Army of the Republic, on returning from the Blue and Gray reunion at Chattanooga, is reported to have made a speech at Westchester, Pa., in which he said that he did not think that the chasm between the sections had been closed.

"As long," he said, "as the people of the South teach their children that their cause was right, though lost, there is little hope that they will become genuine patriots."

It is well that all the members of the Grand Army of the Republic are not of the same mind as Capt. Cummings, and if that is the kind of a patriot he is the country would be better off without him. The South will teach its children what it pleases and yet none of its people, surely no ex-Confederate, will suffer in comparison with this valiant patriot.

OBJECTS TO THE COLOR.

"The spectacle of a young woman bicyclist in bright yellow bloomers, wheeling down the streets of Newport News," says the Philadelphia Inquirer, "is said to have so outraged the good people of that town that they seriously considered the propriety of putting her under a pump. As bearing on this question we should like to retract everything reflecting on the aesthetic taste of Newport Newsers that we have ever said. A woman in dark-blue, brown or black bloomers is bad enough, but a woman in flaming yellow bloomers, with green 'trimmings' and a blonde woman at that, well, put her under two pumps, say we."

Of course, the good people of Newport News will note the apology which the Inquirer makes for all that it has said of that people, but hadn't the Inquirer better turn its attention to home a little? They do say that the bloomer girl flourishes most naively in "the City of Brotherly Love," and yet our contemporary does not seem to know it.

"SUNDAY IN THE SOUTH."

The Philadelphia Telegraph says that one thing may frankly and truthfully be said of the South, and that is, in no part of this country to-day is the old-fashioned American Sunday—a day of cessation from secular labor, respectful quiet, and worship for all so inclined—so generally observed as in the South.

It says that this fact is noted with extreme gratification by Northern visitors, already unhappily familiar with the current practice throughout the East, and the West in particular.

These expressions are the outcome of a visit of the writer to Atlanta, who, continuing, says:

"There is to be no unseemly and costly opening of the Atlanta Exposition on the first day of the week. There was a feeble effort in this direction, but it has been speedily disposed of, and in a characteristic way, by the directory, which unanimously voted to postpone all consideration of the subject. This course is taken in deference to local sentiment and in accordance with fundamental American principles. Atlanta is a very busy city six days in the week, and is looking ahead in every element of material prosperity, but on Saturday night it lays aside the tools of labor and refrains from unnecessary trespass upon the rights of those who toil. In this respect the New South sets a healthful and inspiring example to the reckless cities of the West, which have almost abolished the American Sunday."

WHAT NONSENSE.

Yonks Weekly, under the caption of "Wall Cuba Be Seized," says that it is currently reported that President Cleveland is planning a surprise to the country; that it is nothing more nor less than to take steps to seize Cuba. It says that the rumor is that he is seeking information as to the ships available for use as transports, learning the coast of Cuba, and obtaining such knowledge as would be useful in carrying out the scheme. It says that it is further stated that this course is to be adopted to anticipate and forestall any action of the next Congress towards acknowledging the belligerent rights of Cuba and recognizing the provisional government instituted by the insurgents.

The foregoing it gives as a rumor, but upon its own authority it adds:

"There is a note of probability in this, in the light of Cleveland's candid declaration for a third term. If the latter should be his determination the former could be easily explained. He knows that this country is tired of the discussions and petty wars on the island, which a large amount of American capital is invested in, which is jeopardized and made unprofitable by the unsettled nature of that government. It would be to fall in with that sentiment and ride upon such a popular wave that would instigate him to plot to seize the island as a stepping-stone to the Presidency."

This is all guess work, with no foundation to stand upon. While the country is in full sympathy with the Cubans in their struggle for independence, there is nothing in the present condition of affairs to justify what our contemporary has to say on the subject. It is sheer nonsense to imagine that the President is planning to seize Cuba.

NOTES AND OPINIONS.

"The Campbell's Are Coming" is a very old Scottish air. Copies of it date back to 1620.

There is a pleasant prospect of having trading gowns and soft draperies once more for house wear.

A recent Parliamentary return shows that the average of ships and sailors in the port of London every day is 1,006 ships and 5,000 men.

Raspberry red is one of the rich dark colors for millinery imported in the rough straw hats and bonnets to be worn throughout the autumn.

"Cheer, Boys, Cheer," was the work of Charles Mackay, the music being by Henry Russell. It was the outcome of an evening of conviviality in 1842.

Trimnings of black velvet ribbon upon gowns of soft white wool are in vogue. Bands of open-work black jet ornament white crepon house gowns.

The Westminster Gazette understands that no less a sum than $30,000 has been spent upon the forthcoming production of "Romeo and Juliet" at the London Lyceum.

Modifications upon the little round shaped caps of last season that are frequently worn, consist usually of other pointed fronts or of long stole-like fronts.

Boston is said to have spent seventy-five thousand dollars to entertain the Knights of Templar, and the Knights left behind one million dollars in the city.

To provide troops for Cuba, Spain is making raids on the Canary Islands, seizing all the men that can be found. When a steamer appears in sight now the inhabitants make for the hills, and few young men are to be seen in the towns.

At a recent dinner one of the sweetest, and yet perfectly simple, gowns worn was of dead white taffeta, trimmed with narrow rickings of black velvet ribbon. The armored cruiser Brooklyn was successfully launched from the Grays' ship-yard at Philadelphia on Wednesday.

PERSONALS.

Mr. Herbert E. North, of Raleigh, has sixty acres in rice and expects a crop of 2,500 to 3,000 bushels and a profit of $1,800 on it.

It is understood that ex-President Harrison, in case he fails to receive the nomination himself, will favor the nomination of Robert T. La Follette, of Illinois.

Henry George is organizing a knapsack campaign through New Jersey. Orators in broad hats, blue shirts and leggings will storm the State for the single tax.

The Washington Post says Senator Davis' Presidential boom is getting ripe fast. It might be unfortunate if it got ripe several months before the convention meets.

Kismuck has fought in twenty duels, and has been wounded only once. And that was through an accident, his adversary's sword flying from its handle and cutting his face.

Miss Mary Meredith Reed, daughter of the former United States Consul-General at Paris, is engaged to Count Max de Foras, whose father is Grand Marshall of the Bulgarian Court at Sofia.

The English papers announced the death the other day of Sergeant-Major J. B. Forbes, who was one of the small band of survivors of the famous charge of the light brigade at Balaclava.

J. M. Soper, who is to design the new cup challenge for Charles D. Rice, has been connected with ship building for many years at Southampton, Eng. The first boat designed by him was the twenty-five foot cutter Daisy, which is now in America.

Ex-Gov. Roswell P. Flower, of New York, clings fondly to the long, square cut Prince Albert coat, as it used to be called, and which he wears on all occasions. The coat, too, is always made of drab cloth in black or brown, and, of course, is the handiwork of a fashionable tailor.

Love's Wisdom.
Love never sleeps when sorrow wakes
And joy the dear one's side forsakes;
As swift as thought his path he takes
Where danger, threat and lover.
His loyal lips forbear the least
Yet ere the chime that needs him most
Love knows the hour.

Love hath no lack of skill to find
The wound that needs his watchful mind,
And soft his touch as is the wind
That stirs the spider's line.
What though the light be dusk and dim?
Love knows the hour forgot by him,
Love knows the place.

Love hath no need of treasured lore
Nor mystic spells from days of yore
To teach his hand the beam to pour
Upon an aching heart.
There is no pang that grief can feel
But, with a tender grace to heal,
Love knows the art.

READY MIXED PAINTS

COLONIAL BRAND.

Warranted made with Pure Linseed Oil and White Lead. All tints, all shades, from one-half pint to ten gallons. Send for color card, showing White, Olive, Pure Olive, Drab, Red, Pompadour, Brown, Cream, Straw, Fair, Yellow, Green, Blue, Lead, Gray, Vermilion. In fact, every color desired.

COLONIAL Ready Mixed Paints are manufactured by experienced and practical workmen, from compounded materials of intrinsic value as pigments, which are thoroughly mixed and ground together by improved machinery, producing a paint possessing superior durability, covering capacity and uniformity of shade.

Observe the Following Directions:

Never attempt to paint over a wet surface. Stir the paint thoroughly before using. Coat all knots and sap-places with shellac varnish. Apply first coat rather thin and let it dry thoroughly before putting on another coat. For thinning use Boiled Linseed Oil for outside work and Turpentine for inside.

Rule as to Amount of Paint Required.

The amount of paint required varies according to the condition of the surface to be covered. As a rule one gallon of this paint will cover 100 to 150 square feet one coat, or 250 to 300 square feet two coats. If the work is in fair condition, however, by adding together the length in feet of the sides and ends of the building, and multiplying by the average height, the product, if divided by 200, will give an idea of the quantity required for the work.

Thus, a building may be 40 feet long, 20 feet wide and 25 feet high. 2 sides 20, 2 ends 40, multiply by height 25 feet—2,000 divide by 200—say 10 gallons for two coats.
